PROFILE

I am passionate about the maritime industry, having grown up in a coastal city in Brazil. From a young age, I followed in the footsteps of my grandfather and father, both esteemed maritime men, who instilled in me a deep love for the sea.

My childhood was spent navigating the Brazilian coast alongside my father, gaining firsthand experience and a profound understanding of the maritime world. This rich family tradition has provided me with a unique perspective and a solid foundation in maritime practices, fueling my dedication and enthusiasm for a career on the sea.

Additionally, I am a nature lover with an adventurous spirit, always eager to explore and embrace new challenges.
