

PROFILE

If you are looking for a captain who came to the yacht industry from the hospitality industry as a chef and is happy to cater to the guests' every need, you need look no further.

While at sea making certain that owners/charterers and their guests are safe, comfortable and entertained as they receive bespoke service, Looking forward to return when they disembark.

Basic knowledge of systems and always curious to learn more, you can be assured that small projects and regular maintenance will be handled as though the boat were my own.
